

Grenada Cognitive Delay Assessment and Support Program

Based on data collected from Cognitive Delay Assessment and Support (CDAS) program participants August 2020-April 2021.

PHYSICAL

89% of workshop participants reported learning more effective ways to help children manage their behavior

86% of parents felt they could communicate well with their children

77% of those who participated in CDAS events said the event helped them to better understand how to work with children with disabilities

92%

of parents who reported feeling less overwhelmed when working with children with disabilities

SPIRITUAL

53%

of participants agreed their faith grew as a result of attending a support group

parents who said they read the Bible daily participants who said they pray daily

RELATIONAL

85% of participants believe that the local church is an important part of the community of participants said they view the local church as a valuable resource

85% of participants said CDAS events showed them that the local church cares about people with disabilities

